PRESIDENT NAMES NEW INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE WITH 17 MEMBERS

To Meet at Washington Dec. 1--No Groups in New Body--Will Try to Prevent Future Industrial Unrest Rather Than Deal With Present.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 20.—President Wilson today established a new industrial conference.

The White House made public the names of seventeen members of the new conference, which is to be headed by Secretary of Labor Wilson and which will discuss industrial unrest and seek to find the remedies which the old industrial conference failed to find.

The conference will meet in Washington on December 1.

The members of the conference are as follows:

Secretary of Labor Wilson; Thomas W. Gregory, former attorney general; George W. Wickersham, New York, former attorney general; Oscar Strauss, New York city, former secretary of commerce and labor; Henry M Robinson, Pasadena, Cal.; Prof. Frank W. Taussig, Cotuit, Mass.; Samuel W. M. Call, Waltham, Mass., former governor of Massachusetts; Herbert Hoover, New York city, former food administrator; Martin H. Glynn, Albany, N. Y., former governor, Henry C. Stuart, Elks Garden Va., Dr. W. C. Thompson, Ohio State University, Columbus, O.; Richard Hooker, the Springfield Republican, Springfield, Mass.; John T. Slade, St. Paul, Minn.; Julius Rosenwald, Chicago, Ill.; Owen G. Young, New York city; N. J. Waters, Manhattan, Kans.; and Stanley King, Waltham, Mass.

President Wilson has sent the following letter to Secretary of Labor Wilson and to each of the conferees.

"White House, Washington, Nov. 19, 1919.

"My Dear Mr. Secretary: In concurrence with the suggestion given me by the public group of the recent industrial conference, I am calling a new body together to carry on this vitally important work and I trust you will give me the pleasure of naming you as one of its members.

"Guided by the experience of the last conference I have thought it advisable that in this new body there should be no recognition of distinctive groups, but that all of the new representatives should have concern that our industry may be conducted with such regard for justice and fair dealing, that the workmen will feel himself imbued to put forth his best efforts, that the employer will have an encouraging profit, and that the public will not suffer, at the hands of either class. It is my hope that this conference may lay the foundation for the development of standards and machinery, within our industries, by which the results may be obtained.

"It is not expected that you will deal directly with any condition which exists today, but that you may be fortunate enough to find such ways as will avoid the repetition of these deplorable conditions.

"The conference will meet at a place to be hereafter designated in this city on the first of December next.

"Cordially and sincerely yours,
"Woodrow Wilson."

C. S. ROWE HEADS CO. BEEKEEPERS

Permanent Association Formed—Fifteen Members Join—Rea Illustrated Lecture on Their Problems

The beekeepers of Ulster county held a meeting Wednesday afternoon and evening at the court house. Last winter when a beekeepers association was organized in Ulster county temporary officers were elected, these officers served until Wednesday when permanent officers were elected. C. S Rowe of Kingston was elected president. Mr. Rowe is one of the largest beekeepers in the county, having about 100 colonies. A. P. Snyder of Sawkill was elected vice-president and James W. Van Gaasbeck of Saugerties, secretary and treasurer.

A meeting is to be called some time during the last of December or first of January when it is expected the association will be incorporated under the laws of the state of New York in order that the association may, if it so desires, buy and sell bee supplies and also market honey.

At the meeting Wednesday afternoon fifteen beekeepers of the county joined the association.

After the organization was completed George H. Rea, extension bee specialist for the State College of Agriculture, led a discussion on the problems of the beekeeper. At the evening session Mr. Rea gave an illustrated lecture on the "Life History of the Honey Bee" and gave suggestions to the beekeepers of the county.

Mr. Rea is one of the foremost bee specialists of the country and his lecture on the honey bee was very interesting and profitable to the beekeepers.

The beekeepers of Ulster county are widely scattered and very few are acquainted with the other bee men of the county. The association will afford them an opportunity to get together at frequent intervals and exchange ideas and work together for their common good.

The beekeepers expect to have an exhibit at the Farm Bureau fair which will be held at the armory on December 3-6. It is expected that there will be an exhibit of honey and it is probable that an exhibition hive and perhaps a colony of bees in an exhibition hive with glass sides will be shown, so that the bees at work may be observed.

STERLING AT NEW LOW RECORD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 20.—There was a big crash in the market for foreign exchange today, following the rejection of the peace treaty by the senate. Demand sterling broke to a new low record of $3.99¾ compared with pre-war value of about $4.87. Franc checks slumped to 9.80 and Italian lire broke to 12.57 for checks.

MARY POWELL SALE CONFIRMED

I. Levinson of Newburgh and Reuben Cohn of Poughkeepsie the Purchasers—Ferry Time Table Changes—Other River Notes.

At 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, after The Freeman had gone to press, a telegram was received from E. E. Olcott of the Hudson River Day Line reading. "Powell sold I. Levinson of Newburgh and Reuben Cohn of Poughkeepsie, associated in business." The telegram confirmed the story printed in The Freeman that day. The purchase price was stated to be $40,000.

Today a new time table went into effect and the ferry Transport made her first trip from Kingston at 6:20 o'clock this morning. Trips were made at intervals of every forty minutes during the day until 7 o'clock this evening when the last trip will be made from Kingston. In other words the new time table eliminates the evening trips that were made during the summer.

All of the boatyards are working full force along the Rondout creek. Owing to the fact that it grows dark at 5 o'clock work ceases between 4:30 and 5 o'clock each afternoon until the days grow longer. The same working schedule is also adopted in many of the machine shops. On some of the boatyards work is started at 7 o'clock each morning, but others do not get under way until a little later.

Today was a cold one. Ice formed during the night and also this morning. Small pools and puddles of water were frozen over. One resident placed a fresh pan of water in his chicken yard at 7 o'clock this morning and within an hour or so the water was frozen solid.

COUNTY PEOPLE TO ATTEND DINNER

Many Boosters for Mountain Region Catch Spirit of Co-operation That Has Taken Hold of Chamber of Commerce Members.

The Chamber of Commerce is prepared to take care of two hundred people at its Friends and Neighbors Dinner at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium this evening at 6:30.

Tickets and reservations are going so rapidly that although every effort has been made to take care of all who come there is a possiiblity that those who have not bought tickets or made reservations may have to be disappointed.

Returns from the county continue to come in. Among the reservations received this morning are those from Harry M. Finger of the Saugerties and New York Steamboat Company and a director of the Catskill-Shawangunk Mountain Association, together with D. N. Finger of Saugerties and Benjamin Rowe, secretary of the Saugerties Business Men's Association.

Stamford will be represented by Louis S. Coe, chairman of the Stamford Association and president of the Catskill-Shawangunk Mountain Association.

Altogether this dinner will afford a most impressive massing of the many forces interested in Kingston, Ulster county and the Catskill-Shawangunk region.

It will give added evidence of the fact that the Kingston Chamber of Commerce is by no means an organization in which work and activity is confined to the directors, secretary and small groups, but that on the contrary it is with every passing month becoming more and more thoroughly a true working organization for the community, in which all its members have a place and part.

Few if any members of the Chamber of Commerce have failed to catch the spirit of getting into the harness and doing things for the city, the county and the surrounding region.

This remarkably fine spirit of co-operation and neighborliness is not confined to the members of the Chamber of Commerce but marks the relations of mutual help that exists between the Chamber of Commerce on the one hand, and the Ulster County Society, Travelers' Club, the Catskill-Shawangunk Association, the Boards of Trade and community organizations in Saugerties, Ellenville, Phoenicia, Highland, New Paltz and other places.

MISS ROAT NEW DIST. SUPERVISOR

Ellenville Teacher Appointed to Vacancy Caused By Death of John M. Schoonmaker, Supervisor of Third School District.

Ellenville, Nov. 20.—Supervisor Andrews of the Fourth School District and acting supervisor of the Third District, held the November physical training conference at the local high school on Tuesday. There was a large attendance of members and the work of the physical instructor of Albany at this conference was highly commended.

Mr. Andrews remained over until Wednesday when a meeting of the school directors of the four towns comprising the Third Supervisor District, was held at the Mitchell House at 11 o'clock. At this time Miss Elsie J. Roat, the very acceptable teacher of the Ellenville High School training class, was appointed to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of John M. Schoonmaker of Accord as school supervisor of the Third District.

The appointment of Miss Roat is highly gratifying to the residents of the district, especially so to the people of the town and village where she is so well and favorably known and no one is better qualified to fill the important position. Following the appointment the eight directors and Supervisor Andrews were guests of Miss Roat at dinner at The Mitchell House.

DRY ENFORCEMENT ARGUMENT BEGUN

In U. S. Supreme Court—Government Opens in Appeal From Decision of Judge Evans—Admits Congress Cannot Take Private Property Without Payment.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The battle line of prohibition was drawn in the United States supreme court today.

Arguments as to the constitutionality of the war-time prohibition law and the Volstead act which restricts the alcoholic content of beverages to one-half of one per cent in volume, were heard in the supreme court today, in the final fight for a decision from that body as to the constitutionality of the laws which have made the nation dry.

The fight was brought to the supreme court from lower courts where there have been conflicting opinions, some supporting and others denying the constitutionality of the laws.

A crowded court room marked the opening of arguments in the liquor cases. Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, was on hand early, as was Robert Crain, general counsel for the brewers. In the array of legal talent interested in the various cases appealed to the supreme court there appeared former Secretary of State Elihu Root, William D. Guthrie, New York, William Marshall Bullitt, New York, Walter S. Dreyfoos, New York, Walter C. Noyes, New York, and William L. Marberry, Baltimore.

The argument was opened in the appeal of the government in the whiskey cases in the Kentucky Distilleries Warehouse Company, involving the decision of Judge Evans, permitting the sale of tax paid whiskey. Assistant Attorney General Frierson, argued in support in the constitutionality of the act.

"This is a valid, constitutional law, still in effect," said Frierson. "I do not understand that the validity of the law when passed was attacked, but it is now attacked for the reason that it was passed. This raises the question of the power of congress to act."

"The war power exists in congress to pass laws to meet conditions which result from a declaration of war, to the successful conduct of the war, to meet conditions growing out of war, and to bring the country back to peace conditions," said Frierson. "In time of war the government has control of the purse and the men of the country. It is conceded that congress had power to stop the manufacture of liquor during war, or to restrict its sale during period of the war, but it is held that the war had ended in so far as the restriction was necessary."

OPERATORS URGE PALMER TO REOPEN MINES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Coal operators appealed to the government today to take steps to open the coal mines.

Thomas T. Brewster, chairman of the operators committee, and other members of the operators' committee, today made an appointment with Attorney General Palmer to urge him to take steps to have the miners return to their work immediately.

The operators prepared to set forth a proposition that no increased wages will be granted until the miners return to work and they were also ready to agree that the new wage scale will be retroactive to the date when the miners take up their picks again.

The wage scale sub-committee met again today and continued its negotiations under a bombardment of statistics from the operators.

Reports coming to the coal operators at the conference today indicated an increasing coal shortage in the central and trans-Mississippi states. This section of the country is dependent almost wholly on union mined coal.

Glass plants, brick and other industrials not regarded as essential, have received instructions to gradually curtail their furnaces until almost extinguished, as soon as it can be done without damage to the furnaces.

The big steel mills in the South Chicago and Erie districts have been notified that their coal supply will be curtailed and they have been advised to operate only such parts of their plants as are required to produce material for which there is an essential need.

Shippers are being asked not to tender for freight movement commodities and consignments that are not rated within the priority lists.

Dr. Garfield and his assistants indicated today that every means is being employed to protect the domestic supply of coal and to furnish public utilities with an adequate tonnage.

Reports from the producing districts affected by the strike indicated an unchanged condition today. As far as could be learned no mines resumed operation and there are no indications that a material change will take place until there is action of some kind in the wage controversy.

TREATY DEAD UNLESS RESERVATIONS ARE ACCEPTED SAYS LODGE

President Can Withdraw It and Re-Submit to Senate at Regular Session---Republicans in Awkward Position Says Hitchcock Following Defeat of Ratification With and Without Reservations.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The peace treaty of Versailles, rejected by the senate, today awaits the action of President Wilson. The next move must come from the White House.

At the close of one of the most dramatic sessions the senate has ever seen, that body adjourned sine die after turning down the peace treaty.

The treaty with the Lodge majority reservations was defeated by a vote of 41 to 51.

The treaty as sent to the senate by President Wilson and the peace conference was defeated by a vote of 38 to 53.

Efforts at compromise were practically null. "The door is closed," Senator Lodge declared, and the administration leaders accepted his verdict.

The only way the German peace treaty can be ratified by the senate is for the administration forces to later agree to the majority reservations they turned down yesterday, it was announced today by Senators Lenroot of Wisconsin, and McNary, of Oregon, and other leaders of the so-called "mild reservationists" on the Republican side.

Defeat of the majority reservation of ratification at last night's session of the senate does not mean "hopeless" defeat for the treaty, Lenroot stated. The letter the president sent to Senator Hitchcock, the administration leader, in which he advised against acceptance of the majority reservations, was directly responsible for the treaty remaining unratified when the first session of the 66th congress was adjourned sine die last night, he added.

Until the regular session begins on December 1, the first Monday in December, in accordance with the constitution, the senate can take no further action with regard to the treaty unless the president calls a special session of congress before then. It is not believed he will do so.

After congress meets on December 1, the president can withdraw the treaty and send it back to the senate. It can then be re-committed to the senate foreign relations committee, where it can be held by an agreement until it can be ratified when the majority reservations are met.

"The treaty will remain 'dead' in the senate unless the reservations are adopted," Senator Lodge, majority leader, declared.

"I think the Republicans have worked themselves into an awkward position," Senator Hitchcock, the minority leader, said. "They counted on the enemies of the treaty being able to frame reservations they could ram down our throats—and they were unable to do so."

"We were willing to reach a compromise with the administration forces but they flatly refused to accept our reservations," Senator Lenroot said. "We wanted the treaty ratified with adequate reservations. I am sorry we failed to ratify it before we adjourned. The fault was not ours but theirs. I do not regard the situation as hopeless. I believe the treaty will be ratified later after the next session begins—with the majority reservations substantially accepted as a part of the resolution of ratification."

Other Republican senators said they were not sanguine that the treaty would be so successfully "revived." They described it as "dead" and predicted even if the president re-submitted it to the senate, after withdrawing it, it would not be so easily resurrected.

COMPANY M. STOOD INSPECTION

An inspection of the members of Company M was held last evening at the armory, the inspecting officer being Lieut. Col. Olmstead, a former member of General O'Ryan's staff, now attached to Division Headquarters, assisted by Capt. Niles. The purpose of the inspection was to find out how many of the members of Company M could be federalized in case of an emergency. Captain Fowler was complimented on the excellent showing of the members of the company, showing that the men are taking great interest in the work. Before the inspection the inspecting officers attended the dinner of the Rotary Club, held at the Eagle Hotel, at which Poultney Bigelow was the speaker.

TEXT OF LODGE PEACE RESOLUTION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The Lodge resolution to declare peace with Germany, introduced in the senate, which is a concurrent measure, requiring approval of the house, but, according to general practice, no action by the president, follows:

Whereas, by resolution of congress, adopted April 6, 1917, and by reason of acts committed by the then German government, a state of war was declared to exist between that government and the United States; and,

Whereas, the said acts of the German government have long since ceased; and

Whereas, by an armistic signed Nov. 11, 1918, hostilities between Germany and the Allied and Associated Powers were terminated; and

Whereas, by the terms of the Treaty of Versailles, Germany is to be at peace with all the nations engaged in war against her whenever three governments, designated therein, have ratified said treaty; now, therefore,

Be it resolved by the senate (the house of representatives concurring) that the said state of war between Germany and the United States is hereby declared to be at an end

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations without discussion, and cannot come up until next session.

PRESIDENT TAKES DEFEAT COOLLY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 20.—President Wilson is taking the failure to ratify the treaty very coolly, those in close touch with him said today.

He is said to be confident that the country at large is behind him and not behind the opponents of the pact.

Secretary of State Lansing stated today simply, "There are no plans for the future."

REAL FIGHTERS AT NEXT BOUTS

Fourth Smoker of Kingston Athletic Club to be Crackerjack—Probable Date November 26—Classy Array of Boxing Talent.

Al Cooke of Newark, N. J., and Willie Rose of Newburgh, will probably stage the main bout at the fourth smoker of the Kingston Athletic Club, and the probable date for holding the smoker will be Wednesday evening, November 26, the night before Thanksgiving. They will step eight rounds.

Both boys have appeared at preceding smokers held here, but have never met before. Cooke who recently fought here far out-classed his man, and is one of the fastest and cleanest boxers seen here in some time. Willie Rose appeared at the first and second smokers when he clashed with Young Jim Jeffries of Newark, N. J., and two fast fights were seen, with the honors even between the two.

The bout between Rose and Cooke should be a hummer, as both men have been seen in action, and the fans know what they can produce in the fistic line.

The semi-finals will be staged between Young Lucas of Newburgh and Young Mickey of Newark. Lucas has not been seen in action here, but is said to be a fast man. Young Mickey appeared at the first smoker of the club and made a decided hit with the fans. He is exceptionally fast, and carried a punch in either hand.

There will also be other fasts bouts to be announced later.

ALLEN INSISTS MINES MUST WORK

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 20.—With the eyes of a shivering nation watching his attempt to re-open the coal mines of Kansas and with other states following his lead, close friends of Governor Allen were confident he would stop at nothing short of resumption of coal mining, regardless of the attitude of the operators and miners.

"I am not in a position to be quoted, but the governor is going to get coal in spite of all obstacles," one of his close advisers said.

It is known that before the governor asked that the mines be placed in the hands of the state he carefully considered the possibility of the miners refusing to go back to work. In this eventuality one plan considered was that of calling for volunteer miners within the state and sending all available experts from the state penitentiary at Lansing. Another plan considered was that of opening the mines with imported non-union miners from Colorado and other states.

Either of these plans, or any plan to operate against the will of the union miners, would necessitate the calling out of state troops. It is believed and this is looked for as the next move if the governor does not receive a favorable response or some assurance from the miners within the next 24 hours.

Arthur Schamerhorn and two gentlemen friends from the city spent a few days at the Wilcox camp in quest of game. We understand there are deer and bears in the mountains there, and we hope these people may capture some large game.

Mrs. Low Martin and daughter were shoppers in Poughkeepsie Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schantz and daughter, Mattie, and Walter Miller motored to Catskill last Sunday. Mrs. Schantz remained for a visit with relatives, while the others returned home Sunday evening, after a very delightful trip.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Palmer motored to Marlborough Monday, called on relatives and also attended tot business duties.

Order of the Eastern Star of this place have issued invitations for a dance in J. W. Feeter's Hall on the 28th. The Elite Orchestra will furnish music and a delightful evening of fancy dancing, games and social intercourse is anticipated.

Miss Belle Brinkerhoff of Maple avenue was a shopper in Poughkeepsie the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Aldrich will leave next week for Sullivan county to spend their Thanksgiving among relatives. They will be absent from home about a week.

There is now a report that the Grange members are expecting to hold a dance somewhere about holiday time. These affairs are becoming very frequent here. Take up something new once. It will attract better than one thing all the while. We might better get out of the old rut. Yet these fads seem to prevail.

Dr. and Mrs. Lamouree with Mr. and Mrs. Abram Rhoades have returned home after a pleasant motor trip to Arlington, N. J., where they were guests of Rev. and Mrs. Coombs. They had a very nice trip and also enjoyed the visit greatly with these people.

Mrs. Clarence J. Elting was hostess to the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. F. A. Coons and Mrs. B. A. Reynolds were the program committee and it was splendidly conducted. The attendance was good and all were glad to be present at so interesting a meeting. Dainty refreshments were served, which closed the missionary afternoon.

Mrs. James Nickerson entertained recently guests from Clintondale.

Captain R. H. Decker was a guest of relatives Wednesday at Pleasant Valley.

Last Friday evening the Epworth League of the M. E. Church enjoyed a debate in the lecture room. It was very interesting.

Mrs. Arthur Schamerhorn motored to the Wilcox Camp Monday. It was a fine day for a ride. These days are certainly to be appreciated by everyone. Whether you motor, walk or journey by train or horse and carriage it is hard to realize it is near Thanksgiving, and we only hope this weather may continue for some time to come.

Fred Decker and family will soon move in their home recently purchased on Grand street. It was the Angevine property. Glad these people are to settle there.

Let everyone remember that on Friday evening, December 12, the "Maidens all Forlorn" will arrive by auto at the M. E. Church lecture room, where they will show to all woman's progress. Expectation is on tiptoe for the 12th to arrive for as usual when these people appear in public they always arouse enthusiasm. This farce is full of sparkle from start to finish. It will be given under the auspices of the Auxiliary Club, with Mrs. R. H. Decker, its president as the coach. The club will benefit by whatever measure of success it achieves. They hope to have a full house to greet them and so come out and choose one of the "Maidens all Forlorn" for better or for worse. More news later.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Lake took place on Friday afternoon last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Feeter at half after one. Her pastor, Rev. G. H. Scofield, officiated. This woman was highly esteemed and was a faithful attendant at the Presbyterian Church, of which she was a member. The home was filled with friends, relatives and neighbors, who came to pay their last respects to one who had been in their midst and had by her many good qualities endeared herself to all for years. The floral tributes gave evidence of her beautiful character for they speak louder than words. Funeral directors were W. E. Wilcox and Clifton Carpenter. Interment was in the cemetery of this place.

The Queen Esther Circle were nicely entertained on Tuesday evening by Mrs. Andrus DuBois. The ladies after routine business busied themselves by doing fancy work and talking over the events of the past, present and those to take place in the near future. The hostess served very tasteful refreshments, which all members enjoyed.

Most all the women of the place were in Poughkeepsie some one afternoon of the week attending the plays at Collingwood, where Charles K. Champlain is holding sway. His plays are good and the people who are in them act their parts splendidly.

Rev. F. A. Coons, of the M. E. Church here, received six people in full membership last Sunday morning, which is good news to all who attend that church.

Mrs. Jennie DuBois and Mrs. Elnora Lane, of Lloyd were guests on Thursday, at Capt. and Mrs. R. H. Decker and Miss Bertha Dimsey of this place.

Walter Seaman is kept busy. He is now ready to wire the house on Vineyard avenue known as the John Feeter property, which has recently been sold to a Mr. Curry, who will soon take possession.

Springtown, Nov. 20.—Miss Rachel Canfield is visiting her sister, Mrs. Walter Bingham, in Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Perry Minard and daughters visited Mrs. Minard's parents in Poughkeepsie last week.

Don't Take Gas Costs So Seriously

Remedy fuel expenses instead of raving about them. You can any time you take a notion. It's all up to you.

You have the means at hand. It is for you to choose—whether you want to continue paying heavy travel tax or not.

Doesn't make a nickel's worth of difference what year your car came from the factory—what the make—the size—or number of cylinders it can be made to produce far greater mileage with a New Stromberg Carburetor.

This is not mere say so. You're not taking a chance. It's not a matter of may be you will get more mileage—and may be you won't. You will absolutely.

Yours is not the first car of its kind, its size or its age that has been equipped with a New Stromberg.

The New Stromberg holds world mileage records on practically all makes of machines—under every conceivable road and climatic condition.

There isn't a car in operation that can't be made to give more mileage with Stromberg equipment. And by more mileage—we mean a lot more—enough more to make a sizeable hole in your gas bills.

We have facts galore to back up our assertions—proof positive that the New Stromberg will make a radical reduction in fuel consumption and cost on any car.

Come and look over this evidence of economy. Put a New Stromberg on your car for a Ten-day Test.

If it doesn't prove up—we will take it back. You've got to get more mileage—more power—more speed—better acceleration—or you'll get your money back.

CANNEFAX WON BILLIARD TITLE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Cleveland, Nov. 20.—Robert L. Cannefax, of New York, today holds the national three-cushioned billiard championship.

The tournament came to a close last night when Pierre Maupome put Charles McCourt out of the running by defeating him 50 to 48 in 38 innings last night in one of the most sensational matches of the tournament. Had McCourt won, he would have tied Cannefax and necessitated another game.

Cannefax won eight games and lost but one finishing the tournament with a percentage of 889. McCourt won seven and lost two and Maupome won six and lost three.

KINGSTON, N. Y., NOV. 20, 1919.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke having observed that crime is increasing in spite of prohibition, the Philadelphia Record asserts that "no intelligent person supposed that prohibition would reduce crime except the petty 'drunk and disorderly' cases." Prohibition orators will object to being classed among the unintelligent.

As long as the matrimonial bureaus merely promised to furnish beautiful wives and handsome husbands they were allowed to go on separating fools from their money. But when a New York concern ventures to offer millionaires and millionairesses at a high figure Assistant District Attorney Kilroe decided that a raid of this particular mart of Cupid was in order.

The anarchists and seditious Bolshevists caught in the Federal dragnet have set up an ear-splitting whine at the prospect of being sent back to Europe where they can get no such pickings as are within their reach in this country with its plentiful supply of persons with more money in their pockets than gray matter in their heads.

When Mr. Gompers says that labor is in accord with the Government so long as justice is done he expresses a sentiment not wholly unlike that of the "Afro-American" editor quoted in the Government's report on radical and seditious publications as saying that "intelligent negroes have all reached the point where their loyalty to the country is conditional."

Dowager Queen Alexandra has cabled President Wilson her satisfaction in the fact that he was "able to spare a moment" to see her "precious grandson." Though the Prince has a winning way, she seems anxious for him to please wherever he goes, perhaps recalling the prophecy of her husband, Edward VII, that George V would be the last King modern England would accept.

Ohio votes by a majority of 542 against its legislature's ratification of the prohibition amendment to the Federal Constitution and by a majority of 26,838 against the act for enforcing the state prohibition legislation. Ohio sentiment against prohibition in that State is much stronger than Ohio sentiment against prohibition in the country at large. This is not as inconsistent as it seems at first glance. An experiment is different from an eternal bond.

THE NEW POETRY.

That row at the Contemporary Club in Philadelphia will give the "new poetry" the best advertisement it has ever had and induce people to read or try to read it who otherwise would have sidestepped such intellectual labor. Miss Amy Lowell of Boston, sister of the president of Harvard, a woman of position, means and brains, is the high priestess of the new poetry's fame. Not content with adorning the magazines with her "vers libre" (free verse), she goes about preaching to literary circles that the poetry of the past was a sad mistake and that the new article which she writes and stands for is the only genuine thing. At the Contemporary Club in Philadelphia, where she recently appeared, her view was questioned with more or less heat. Some of the criticism she encountered there was perfectly courteous and some of it wasn't. So Miss Lowell, who appears to be liberally endowed with "temperament," burst into tears, intimated that many in her audience didn't "know any better" and departed in "high dudgeon."

Miss Lowell is said to describe herself as a past mistress in the art of throwing hand grenades among sleepy old ladies. In other words, the new poetry is startling enough to make the rut-worn mind sit up and take notice. It discards not only rhyme but rhythm, being nothing but prose strung along in lines of irregular length. But it is extraordinary prose, aimed to startle by its boldness as well as to mystify by its indefinite thought and disconnected imagery. Obviously it is an exaggeration of the Walt Whitman idea, and undoubtedly after its little hour of flag waving and shouting, it will go the way of other forgotten literary fads.

GRUBSTAKING THE REDS.

In the round up of the "Reds" it was found that tons of radical literature are circulated in this country. This literature in many languages consists not only of pamphlets, such as the address of Lenine urging the workingmen of the United States to set up a communistic government like the Bolshevist of Russia, but of more than 400 radical journals which circulate widely not only among the foreign-born but among negroes and other discontented elements. An important fact brought to light is that this radical and seditious literature, though paid for in part by foreign gold, is largely supported by our native "parlor socialists" and "boudoir Bolshevists" of wealth, a large element among whom has been contemptuously described by John Reed, the communist agitator, as "women of wealth with nothing to do and little in their heads but plenty of money for a radical cause." The supporters of this literature are described by the Deputy State Attorney of New York as persons who "were pro-German and at all times at the back of all sorts of disloyal movements."

The Reds are rounded up for deportation, but what is to be done about those who furnished the money, the pro-Germans, parlor socialists, boudoir Bolshevists and women with more money than brains? For these people have substantially aided and egged on the campaign to undermine our industrial and governmental structure. Who are the more to be feared, those who dig to undermine or those who grubstake the diggers? If the movement is to be checked, the grubstakers must be dealt with as well as the diggers.

READY FOR THE CHILDREN

Time that flies so swiftly for grown-ups, worries along on leaden wings for children, and yet Time with all its blend of swiftness and tardiness, has swung again into the Holiday season.

Christmas is coming again, Christmas most glorious day of all the year to the crystal-pure mind of childhood, when a wonderful Santa Claus with a heart of gold wants eagerly to gratify the heart's desire, whether it be a velocipede or a string of beads--a doll that talks or a shapeless little rag baby meant solely for cuddling. All over the world are little faces turned toward the North, where Santa dwells---and little hands reaching out towards a big round-tummied individual with a rosy smile and a magic pack that contains everything.

The children do not anticipate alone. We, too, anticipate---have anticipated---and to the end that no child shall be disappointed---that every parent shall have ample time to pick from Santa's wares while they are fresh, unhandled and plentiful we, Luckey, Platt & Company, bought toys, thousands of toys, extra early and shall present them to you.

MISSIONARIES SHOULD COME HERE

Instead of Our Sending Them Abroad, Says Bigelow in Speech to Rotarians—Scores Present System of Education and League Governing Body.

Poultney Bigelow, in his most Bigelowesque humor—which is to say that anyone who doesn't want his toes of Sham trodden on by the big feet of Facts had better put his toes in his pockets—was the guest of the Rotary Club at their dinner at the Eagle Hotel Wednesday evening. Mr. Bigelow said he was going to talk about Americanism, but the thing he talked most about was the fallacy of the general belief that education of the machine-made kind is a panacea for all evils, that education judged by percentage and examinations, education made too easy or thrust forcibly upon the recipients, would make the world over in a few days or years. Mr. Bigelow also had a few well chosen words for "the big-mouth fraternity who have talked us into a snarl." It being "ladies' night, many of the club members were accompanied by their wives and Mr. Bigelow was accompanied by Mrs. Bigelow.

Mr. Bigelow in opening stated that there was but one topic on which to speak and that topic was "Americanism," and then went on to explain what Americanism meant to him. "Americanism means nothing, we are all Americans," said Mr. Bigelow. He spoke of the terms so often used, "Irish-Americans or German-Americans," which to him meant nothing for if we are not Americans and if America is not good enough for us "we should go back to our own country."

He spoke of the educational system of the country, of the colleges and schools for education and then showed that it was not a lack of such institutions, but a lack of the proper use of these same institutions, that was at fault. It is not more colleges we need, said Mr. Bigelow, but it is a thirst for knowledge by the younger people. Once a thirst for knowledge is acquired, education will come. He spoke of the great men of the early days of our country, the signers of the Declaration of Independence, very few of whom had college educations, yet these men thirsting for knowledge had obtained it without a high school or college education. Abraham Lincoln, Benjamin Franklin and Thomas A. Edison, none of whom had a college education, he pointed out as examples of what men thirsting for knowledge could do.

As to the present generation, educated in colleges and high schools, given every opportunity to receive the best education, Mr. Bigelow asked how many of them were producing things which would last. Many of the greatest writers of the past had little or no education except what they themselves picked up, still their work was handed down from generation to generation and would last forever. Of all the writing of today from the best educated men in the country there was very little which would last. The college professor of today spends a great part of his time trying to raise funds for his college and a college of today is rated by the people by the number of expensive buildings and the amount of money it has. These things should not be required if a man is really thirsting of knowledge.

Every year we send missionaries to foreign countries to teach the people there, but what we need is missionaries sent here instead. As an illustration he spoke of his own experiences in the countries of Asia. There a Buddhist teacher is given an education and then turned out into the world with nothing to make his way. If he is able through his own efforts to convince the people of the country of the right of his teachings he will succeed but if through his own lack of ability he fails, then he will die. He must succeed upon his own ability.

"If every college and high school in the country should burn to the ground, we would be better off for then we would have to seek out the educated." They would then become the leaders, people who on account of their own ability would rise to the surface and be recognized. It was not on account of any knowledge received at school or college that Edison had become the man that he is today, or was it such knowledge which made Fulton able to produce the steamboat, it was their own ability and thirst for knowledge. Plato did not have to employ a truant officer.

Mr. Bigelow spoke of the present college system of the country as absolutely wrong. After a college education many young men start out into the world and find that they must get rid of their college education and learn in the school of reality. Still there are few college men of today who will admit this, even though they know it.

Examinations as conducted are misleading and simply show the ability of the person to memorize and remember something, the meaning of which he may not even know. He spoke of his knowledge of examinations in China where certain men, poor but educated, would go into the examination booths and take the examinations, signing the name of some rich but uneducated person and then receive money for the work, the rich but uneducated person getting the position not on account of his ability. Examinations as conducted in this county, so far as showing the ability of the man to hold a position, was as bad as in China. George Washington could not have passed a regents' examination.

He spoke of the League of Nations and of the hopes which were upheld for it by its supporters. "For the world to take orders from a body of men who sit somewhere on the shores of Lake Geneva is madness," said Mr. Bigelow.

If the world could be made safe for one generation from Germany it is all that could be hoped for. Germany, he said, always had been and always would be armed and ready to seize the opportunity to march and to conquer. It was foolish to think that all the world would ever be at peace, said Mr. Bigelow.

HIGH SCHOOL LUNCHES.

Satisfactory to Parent-Teachers' Association.

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the Kingston high school turned out in goodly numbers to attend the meeting at the high school lunch room last evening. Moreover, there were several new members present.

Miss Davis, head of the Domestic Science Department, gave a most interesting and illuminating talk about the lunch room work, a part of social science department course. Evidently everyone was satisfied with the school lunches served at the high school as there was no discussion brought up about the matter. During the evening sandwiches and hot coffee were served and evidently greatly enjoyed.

Tell Your Friends About Nicotol---The Enemy of Tobacco

It improves any man's health to quit using too much tobacco if he can escape the awful craving that usually attends quitting without such assistance as Nicotol gives. Did you ever have smoker's cough? Try Nicotol in getting rid of the tobacco habit and see how quickly the cough will disappear. Nicotol is dispensed by most good druggists in this city, especially by Connelly Drug Company and Ten Broeck Pharmacy.

A Rare Smoothness of Action

Quality First

THE thing you will like best and remember longest about a Hot Spot Chalmers is its rare smoothness of action.

You will note an absence of "effort" about its motive power. You will sense almost no vibration, no jars, no engine noises.

That is because Hot Spot "cracks up" the gas into an extremely fine vapor and Ram's-horn hurries it to the cylinders so that gas condenses but little en-route.

There are no sharp corners or abrupt bends in Ram's-horn to impede its progress.

If the Chalmers engine had windows you would be amazed at the miracles performed with gas. But when you drive a Hot Spot Chalmers you will note the results obtained, and you, too, will say Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS' DEPARTMENT BUSY

Activities in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. are in full swing and everything points to one of the best seasons that the department has ever had. Tuesday night was the opening night of the boys' Bible classes. Supper was served to forty-five boys. This was one of the famous bean suppers that the boys like. These suppers will be held every Tuesday night at 6 o'clock. Several of the boys did not get their tickets until the night of the event. This caused a shortage of beans as preparations were made for only those who had purchased tickets beforehand. It will be necessary for every boy to buy a ticket before Monday night each week in order that an abundant supply of "eats" may be on hand. No tickets will be sold after Mondays. Last spring fourteen boys passed the Bible study examinations given by the International Committee. The certificates were presented Tuesday night.

A pocket billiard tournament is being "run off" between the members of the B and C groups. Sixteen boys are playing in this event. The games are played in the afternoon after school.

The employed boys' class is increasing in interest. Their gym classes are conducted Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights 7-8 o'clock followed by shower and swim for half an hour. Beginning this week this group is allowed to bowl each Thursday night 7 to 9 o'clock. An employed boys' pocket billiard tournament will begin next Monday night. Nine boys have already signed up and it is hoped others will sign up before Monday.

The Student A group composed of boys 15-17 years of age attending high school is one of the largest and enthusiastic groups in the department. A team from this group will play a basketball team from the Poughkeepsie Y here Saturday at 2 p. m.

These are two fast teams and a good game is expected. Each Tuesday 3 to 5:30 o'clock this group has the use of the bowling alleys. Teams in duck pins and regular pins are to be selected this week and a tournament will begin next Tuesday afternoon.

Each day after schol until nine o'clock in the evening the boys' department has from thirty to sixty live, red blooded boys using its many privileges.

DISCOURAGING TO AUTO THIEVES

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 19—The palmy days for the automobile thief are on the wane. Soon he will no longer be able to ride off in somebody's machine and with little or no difficulty sell it to the first used car dealer he meets. Already he can just about gamble on going to jail, if caught. Polite reprimands and nominal fines for automobile pirates are becoming out of style with New York state judges.

Aroused for the first time of the seriousness of the depredations from motor car brigandage by reports made public at the annual convention of the New York State Automobile Association in this city last month, both the courts and law makers are getting busy to stop it.

Supreme Court Justice Hinman of this city recently set an example of what automobile thieves can expect when caught. He sent one of them to prison for ten years and told him that the "gentlemen" of his nefarious trade were becoming so bold that the public demanded the maximum penalty. For this act Secretary Baker of the New York State Automobile Association, at the direction of President Henry W. Robbins, has sent a letter to Justice Hinman expressing the appreciation of the association.

A grand jury in Schenectady has been investigating an epidemic of motor car thievery there and has forwarded to the secretary of state some of the most practical recommendations yet suggested. These and other suggestions will form an important part of the measures to be placed before the coming session of the legislature and they will be taken up in the near future at a conference of state officials and representatives of the State Automobile Association. At the same time from Washington comes word of the enactment by congress of the law penalizing persons who transport stolen automobiles from one state to another.

The Schenectady grand jury in its report declares that the theft of 32,000 in 19 cities last year constitutes a serious abuse of law and order. In cases which have come to its attention it says it was shown that the thieves seem to have no trouble whatever in obtaining new license plates and certificates of registration from the secretary of state.

The Schenectady grand jury also found that it is customary for second hand dealers and others to buy and sell registered motor vehicles without having their name appear on the record thus increasing the difficulty of tracing stolen cars. As the law requires the immediate filing of a notice of sale of a registered motor vehicle, such practice can be checked in the office of the secretary of state by questioning those transfer cases, in which by reason of differences of date or from other entries, it may appear that the law is not being strictly followed.

The grand jury recommended that the secretary of state keep on file or publish lists of cars reported stolen and that if such suggestions required increased expenditures, the necessary appropriation would be "amply justified as of general benefit to the public." These are but a few of the practical suggestions of the Schenectady grand jury to curb the flourishing trade in stolen automobiles and is in line with the efforts of the New York State Automobile Association to prevent theft and disposal of stolen cars, by offering and paying large sums in rewards annually for the recovery of stolen cars for its members.

How To Save Your Automobile And Cut Down Repair Bills

Below are 12 reasons why heating your Garage this winter will save your Car and greatly reduce your repair bills.

Coal-burning
Self-regulating
Hot Water

WASCO GARAGE HEATING SYSTEM
READY-TO-SET-UP

Several Sizes
For 1- to 10-Car Garages

1. Eliminate Frozen Radiators.
An unheated garage means springing the radiator, cracking the water jacket of the engine, freezing the water and breaking the pump. Anti-freeze compounds are liable to evaporate, especially if the engine overheats.

2. Save the Engine.
Gasoline cannot vaporize when the cylinders and carburetor are cold and starting is difficult. The engine sputters and kicks on half the cylinders and finally, after much gasoline and electricity have been wasted, it starts.

3. Reduce Carbon Deposits in the Cylinders.
To start a cold engine there must be a rich mixture of gasoline and air the first five minutes. This increases carbon deposits.

4. Save the Bearings.
Oil becomes thick and sluggish in a cold garage. This results in the bearings scoring before becoming warmed by the friction. When starting a cold engine, the knocking means more damage to the bearings.

5. Save the Battery.
The storage battery, being a chemical machine, and as chemicals act very slowly when cold, the battery cannot take full charge. The extra load put onto the battery in starting the cold engine soon discharges the battery beyond the danger point. "Over charging" occurs and this is responsible for most all battery troubles. The chemicals become useless and fall off the grids. The battery becomes weak and finally must be replaced.

6. Save the Car Finish.
In an unheated garage, moisture slowly accumulates under the varnish and freezes, which cracks and spots the varnish. This does not happen in a warm, dry garage. The warmth and dryness preserve the finish and upholstery of the machine. Refinishing a car is expensive.

7. Save the Tires.
If the garage is not warm and dry, moisture gets into the fabric of the tires through cuts. This moisture freezes while the car is not in use and loosens the fabric and eventually ruins the tires.

8. For Easy Cleaning of the Car.
Mud and snow freeze to the car in a cold garage. When washing the car in an unheated garage, the water freezes on, which spoils the finish. The mud and snow melt off the car in a garage that is heated.

9. For Comfort in Oiling, Altering the Batteries, etc.
It is a pleasure to attend your car in a warm garage, but not when the fingers are cold and numb and the feet almost frozen.

10. Prevent Colds and Sickness.
Working around the car in an unheated garage results in colds and grippe. Heat your garage and save doctor bills.

11. For Safety.
The damper regulator of the WASCO Garage Heating System allows the air in the garage to be drawn up the stove pipe. This creates a circulation through the garage and prevents possible accumulation of gasoline vapors anywhere. Explosive mixtures are more liable to form in a cold garage, whereas they are diffused in a warm garage, especially when the air is circulated as with the WASCO Heating System.

QUALIZATION REPORT ADOPTED

Supervisors Despite McMillin and Doyle Protests—County May Insure Own Pay Rolls—Tax Roll Verification Statement.

Supervisors McMillin and Doyle, both spoke in objection to the adoption of the report of the committee on equalization fixing the percentages of their towns, being Olive and Wawarsing, when Supervisor Fratsher moved on Wednesday evening at the board of supervisors that the ratios reported be the percentage which the full value of real property in each tax district bears to its full value. Supervisor McMillin said that arbitrarily and unjustly had a large amount been placed on Olive, a little town back on the rocks. It was the most unjust deal ever carried out by the board of supervisors. Supervisor Doyle said he thought there was not a member of the board but thinks the action of increasing Wawarsing over $162,000 is wrong. Next fall the supervisors will be asked to reduce the town valuation $500,000 and no doubt the request will be granted The only reason the town was raised was because Billy Doyle is a Democrat The motion of Supervisor Fratsher to adopt the report was 24 ayes; noes, 6—Supervisors Doyle LeFevre, McMillin, Harcourt, Terwilliger, Winfield.

The committee on apportioning the mortage tax reported amount paid by each tax district, amount to be distributed and portion for villages as follows

County Superintendent of Highways, J. F. Loughran in a communication suggested that a committee be appointed by the chair to investigate the best method to provide industrial insurance in the county. Supervisor Fratsher, moved that the chairman appoint such a committee and stated that at present it is costing the towns considerable money to insure its pay rolls under the State Compensation law. Last year it cost Saugerties about $1,200. Supervisor Doyle also spoke of the costly manner of insuring at present. Wawarsing paying about $1,000 last year. COMMUNITY SING HAD MORE "PEP"

There was a splendid crowd out at the Community Sing this week, the number being greatly increaed and the spirit of the singers being far more enthusiastic than for some time Conductor Harry P. Dodge was greatly encouraged and gratified, especially as the songs went with more "pep" than usual and everybody seemed unusually happy. Two or three rounds were sung, which means a jollification, and three Christmas numbers were sung and well sung: The Prince of Peace; carols, "O Come, All Ye Faithful!" and "The First Noel." A new song was, "Last Night," by Kjerulf.

One of the most delightful features of the evening was the piano solo. Schumann's "Arabesque," played by Miss Katharine Kearney. Mr. Dodge gave a very brief biography of this composer of rare beauty noting especially the moodiness of the man, and the reflection of his moods in his music. Perhaps none of his piano works more characteristically shows this moodiness than the Arabesque, which Miss Kearney played with much feeling and a really exceptionally artistic technique. In response to the enthusiastic appause she played remarkably well, Chopin's Posthumous Waltz in E Minor. Now that we begin to realize how fine a time can be had at our Community Sings, let's turn out and help them along.

CITY RELIGIOUS SURVEY SUNDAY

The Ulster County Bible Society will make a religious survey of the city on Sunday afternoon next. In a few of the wards it will be made prior to Sunday. This survey is non-sectarian and non-denominational. Its object is not merely to have a census for statistical purposes. Its purpose is mainly to encourage families not connected with any church to ally themselves with the church of their choice, regardless of creed or denomination.

The Ulster County Bible Society has existed for over one hundred years, having celebrated its centennial in 1917 when Judge Clearwater was president. In 1883 it made a similar survey which resulted in the churches of the county collectively receiving the largest accession to their membership in their history, either before or since.

Only ten simple questions will be asked the head of each family. Everyone is requested to co-operate by courteously giving the answers with as much dispatch as possible to aid the workers, each of whom must visit many families.

Recuperation a Natural Process.

One thing which mitigates the apparent destructiveness of war is the rapidity with which, even in normal times, everything in the organic world is being incessantly destroyed and renewed. For example, science tells us that practically every cell in our own bodies is thus replaced within a period of seven years. And what is true of the human individual is equally true of those larger entities known as nations.—Lathrop Stoddard in the World's Work.

Birds Away From Home.

Certain instances of birds found singing far north of their usual range are possibly to be explained by the whirl of cyclonic storms. The wind turning counter clockwise, blows off shore in the South and carries the bird out to sea. But sooner or later, if the bird has the good fortune to last out the experience, the farther spin of the storm tends to bring him ashore again.—Indianapolis News.

Making Iron Rustproof.

According to Professor Barff, if iron is subjected to the action of superheated steam at a temperature of 650 degrees Centigrade for from six to seven hours it becomes covered with a coating which is proof against rusting or the action of a file. A great advantage of the system is that, if a part is left untreated and begins to rust the rusting does not spread sideways to the treated portions.

Flies Seldom Crawl Downward.

A fly on a windowpane will crawl to the top, fly back to the bottom and crawl up again. This order is seldom reversed. It is on record that a fly crawled up a windowpane thirty-two times, returning each time to the same place.

Nose Sewed on After Being Off One Hour

London.—An unusual story was related at the King Edward VII hospital at Windsor. A stable boy, named William Robertson, was preparing a horse to run in a race when a skylight fell and cut his nose clean off. He was taken to the King Edward VII hospital without his nose.

The arteries were tied and the surgeon then asked for the nose. It was stated that it was left behind in the stable at the race course.

A messenger immediately was dispatched to the stables and the nose was found in the straw. It was taken to the hospital where an operation was performed and the nose was put on again. It had then been off about an hour.

A few days later Robertson was discharged from the hospital. He said it was a miracle.

SURGEON MAKES ODD FIND

Operation Reveals Rubber Tube and Safety Pin Near Child's Heart.

Anderson, Ind.—A rubber tube one and one-half inches long and one-half inch in diameter, with a large safety pin attached crosswise at one end, was found lodged near the heart of Richard Lynch, five years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lynch, near Summitville.

The operation followed the inability of physicians to relieve the boy of severe pains in his chest. The pains had bothered the boy ever since he had double pneumonia and had been operated on more than a year ago.

An X-ray examination disclosed the foreign substance near the heart. The operation that followed resulted in the finding of the rubber tube and the safety pin. A nurse recalled that once when she dressed the incision which resulted from the first operation, she missed a drainage tube. She said she thought it had been lost among the boy's clothing.

COW EATS GIRLS' CLOTHES

Four Illinois Young Women Splash Merrily Around During the Meal.

St. Louis, Mo.—They did not hang their clothes on a hickory limb, or any other kind of a limb—they left them on the bank—so a cow ate them and after this four young women of Shiloh, Ill., will pay more attention to the wisdom of the old rhyme. Meantime, John Rable's cow is endeavoring to digest a quantity of button hooks and eyes, and is not bearing it so well under the strain.

The loss of the clothing was bad but the walk of a mile and a half from the swimming hole to their homes, clad only in bathing suits, through a community that has its opinions about bathing suits at their best, was worse. Nor did their explanation of how they happened to be without clothing appear to be entirely convincing.

Now they're hanging them higher in Shiloh.

KAISER'S KITCHEN LIKE HIM

Shows No Sign of Ever Having Been Under Fire—Comes to Washington.

Washington.—To the collection of war trophies which the Smithsonian institution is now gathering will be added shortly the field kitchen of William Hohenzollern, late kaiser of Germany.

The kitchen followed the kaiser to all the fighting fronts he visited, but shows no signs of damage, which is taken to indicate that it was kept far to the rear, as did its imperial owner.

German prisoners of war loaded the kitchen—which is said to be the most elaborate affair of its kind—aboard a transport at St. Nazaire, France, and it is on its way to Washington, with a large collection of war material of different kinds.

Whose Word Is Better Than Your Druggist's?

Physicians, Dentists and Nurses Rely On Him—Isn't That Sufficient Reason for Public Confidence?

There are many good reasons for the confidence the public repose in their druggist. First, he is educated to know by four years of college and practical training. Second, ethical physicians everywhere rely implicitly on his skill—they trust him. This faith, of course, originates and is maintained by the professional service rendered by the druggist in filling prescriptions. Everyone admits this confidence when offering a prescription to a druggist.

Very few men can be honest in one department of their business, and dishonest in the other. Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde exist very little in real life. If you trust your druggist to fill your prescription, therefore, in all fairness you must accept his word against the word of unknown and far distant manufacturers.

To recommend an article, the druggist must, of course, know what it contains and how it is made, and this was one reason for the formation of a co-operative national association of druggists and physicians who prepare a complete line of household remedies and toilet goods. This association is the American Druggists Syndicate, popularly called A. D. S., which boasts a membership of 28,000 druggists and physicians, the largest of its kind in the world. For 10 years these professional men met annually for conference in order to obtain the best formulas for its products that the combined skill and experience of its members could produce. All these articles are non-secret, strictly ethical. The ingredients in all A. D. S. preparations conform to the standard advocated by the government, and cannot be excelled in quality. As the association is strictly co-operative, its merchandise is also sold at the very lowest prices possible for the quality.

In Kingston there are 12 druggists who will tell you that A. D. S. Household Remedies, like of Magnesia, Aspirin, Digestive Tablets, Peredixo Tooth Paste, etc., are the best that they can find in all markets. These 12 druggists stand squarely behind every A. D. S. product with an unqualified guarantee and a hearty endorsement. Such a recommendation is the greatest that can obtain, based on the scientific knowledge of tens of thousands of experts and fulfilled by a man you know well and must trust implicitly—your druggist.

Whenever you need a household remedy or toilet article, ask an A. D. S. Druggist to recommend one to you. All A. D. S. Druggists identify themselves with prominent window or counter displays. Ask one about A. D. S. products. If you would trust him to fill your prescription, it's only fair to take his word about the merchandise he sells.

Discarded Hats to Brazil.

Thousands of hats, discarded by English women are exported every year to Brazil, where they are eagerly bought by the Indians. The feathers and other ornaments on the hats are taken by the men and the bare straw shapes are given to their women folk.—Ohio State Journal.

FREEMAN WANT ADS. BRING RESULTS

CLOTHING COURSE VERY POPULAR

That the clothing course now inaugurated by the Home Bureau throughout the county is exceptionally popular with the women of the various communities there can be no doubt, judging from the attendance and enthusiasm of the women who met at Stone Ridge on Wednesday of this week.

The meeting was held in the Grange Hall, beginning about ten o'clock in the morning, when there were twenty women present. Lunch was served and in the afternoon there were twenty-eight women there, but as some of those in the afternoon were not there in the morning there were in all, thirty-five women who participated in the work and received helpful instruction.

In the morning simple dressmaking was the special topic. While in the afternoon the women took up the remodelling of garments, called in plain parlance, "making over," clothing. At least one-third of the women brought garments to be made over. Copies of patterns were taken, etc. The morning work consisted of the consideration of designs, choice of patterns, taking measurements; readjusting of patterns to fit the individual; cutting and fitting and the use of the dress form.

At noon a fine lunch of sandwiches, hot coffee and cake was served. Mrs. Julia Hasbrouck is chairman of the lunch committee, and at each of these meetings a group of ten women, chosen by Mrs. Hasbrouck, will prepare and serve lunch. In fact it was found that the all day meeting, with the fun of the lunch together made for a sociability that was found to be particularly appealing to the women, as well it might.

In the afternoon practical work in remodelling was done, beginning with the ripping up of the old garments, the cutting over, planning, etc. One garment was ripped up, planned out, cut over and almost completed for a girl from the clothing of an older person and was a great success.

The instructors were Mrs. G. H. Skinner and Miss Lillian M. Stuart, manager of the Home Bureau.

The Home Bureau Committee of Stone Ridge, having this work in charge is composed of Mrs. C. C. Hardenbergh, Mrs. C. F. Sherman, Miss Catherine C. Cantine and Mrs. M. C. Van Winkle.

The women all expressed themselves as more than pleased with the course and could hardly wait for the next meeting which will be held in two weeks, December 3, at the same place, when the remodelling work will be continued under the same instructors, and renovating and dyeing will be taken up.

Thursday the clothing course is being started in Gardiner at the home of Mrs. Luther Dusinberre and Friday the same course will be inaugurated at West Shokan at the home of Mrs. Lee Bishop.

Cause of Rain a Mystery.

The mysteries of rain are not yet cleared away. The forces of electricity, of magnetism, of radio activity, of ultra violet light and all the other agencies which may collaborate in the production of a downpour of rain are very obscure. Wind and rain come together, and the changes of temperature make what we call weather. In the South Sea Islands the natives have no word which means weather, as the atmospheric conditions never change.

POPULAR CONCERT CREATES INTEREST

While the interest in the popular Symphony Orchestra concerts is considerable and growing, as has been seen by the advance sale of tickets, either single or course tickets, the announcement in The Freeman an evening or two ago, to the effect that the instrumental numbers would be varied by chorus numbers in which the audience would have a part, under the leadership of Harry P. Dodge, with the orchestra as an accompaniment, seems to have put new zest into the project. Since that announcement, the sale of tickets has materially increased.

Again, the announcement that Harry Clearwater will be the soloist, has undoubtedly boomed the sale of tickets, for Mr Clearwater has a host of admirers throughout the entire community, and the knowledge that he will be the soloist, has also created added interest in Sunday's concert

The full program of the concert will appear in tomorrow's Freeman.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

The funeral of Mrs. S. M. Gray was held from her late residence on Albany avenue on Wednesday afternoon and was largely attended by friends from this city and out of town The Rev. Dr. J. L. Leeper, pastor of the First Dutch Church, officiating, and following the opening prayer, Dr. Leeper paid a very beautiful tribute to the fine Christian character of the woman who has passed on into the larger life At the close of the address, Earle Hummel grand nephew of Mrs. Gray, played beautifully an "Aria" by Tonaglia. The closing prayer, in itself a tribute to the memory of Mrs. Gray, was offered by the Rev. Henry Brink, pastor of the Reformed Church of Gardiner, a nephew of Mrs Gray The floral tributes were profuse and very beautiful, among them being handsome floral offerings from the D. A. R. of Saugerties, of which chapter Mrs Gray was a member, and from social clubs of which Mrs. Gray was also a member The honorary bearers were the Hon John A. Snyder Orville Carn and George Seaman of Saugerties, D N. Mathews, Z. P. Boice and Alvah Staples of this city, while the active bearers were Mrs Gray's nephews, Arthur York of Saugerties Morgan Gray Smith of Catskill, Arthur Ellison, George Smith, Captain W. M Kraft and Ford Hummel of this city The interment was in the family plot in the cemetery at Saugerties.

James Little, a well known and highly esteemed resident of Ellenville, died at his home on Maple avenue on Sunday evening, November 16, at the age of 72 years. Mr. Little had been in failing health for several years, and his death was not entirely unexpected, although he had been seriously ill for only a short time. Mr. Little was formerly a well known and popular conductor on the O. & W. railroad, where he was employed for the greater part of his life and had been a resident of a number of the large cities and towns along that railroad, among them having been Middletown, Walton, Kingston and Ellenville. Some years ago he was quite severely injured in an accident which occurred on the railroad, from the effects of which he never entirely recovered. About five years ago he retired from active employment on account of his health and removed from Kingston, where he had been residing, to Ellenville, purchasing a home on Maple avenue which he occupied until the time of his death Mr. Little will be well remembered by the employes of the O. & W who are residents of Middletown, where he was widely known. He was one of the charter members and helped to organize Middletown Lodge, No. 40, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and was also a member of the I O O. F. His last run on the railroad was on the Ellenville & Kingston branch, from which he retired. Since he had been one of the citizens of Ellenville he had gained a large number of friends who have held him in high esteem He is survived by his wife and several daughters was passed and signed after the armistice," said Frierson.

"But this is called war-time prohibition," suggested Justice Clark.

"Similar civil war laws were held constitutional by the supreme court," said Frierson. "This country is still at war. The armistice is a mere agreement to cease hostilities until the warring countries could negotiate peace. The question of whether a thing is for good or for evil in the conduct of the war is for congress to determine and not the courts."

"Do you overlook the fact that where congress takes property it must pay for it?" said Justice Holmes.

"No, congress where it takes private property must pay for it," replied Frierson.

"It is contended that the courts shall look over conditions in the country today and see whether this legislation is necessary I hold that when war is declared congress is charged with duty to act to make war successful and the courts must hold to this duty and power in congress"

Frierson said that congress disagreed with the president in the view that necessity for war time prohibition had been passed, and passed a stringent enforcement act This the president vetoed, but congress passed it over his veto. Each branch of government was acting in its legislative capacity. The president's act was one of policy, not of power.

"It is said that this is a taking of property without compensation," said Frierson. "This court has held that where use of any property is detrimental to health the taking of that property is not confiscation"

"If congress should pass an act that a man should not have a house or live in it during war would that be legal?" suggested Chief Justice White.

Frierson said such an act would not be valid. He argued that the power exercised by congress over liquor during the war was similar to the police power of states over liquor in ordinary times

Justice Pitney asked on what theory so long a time was given between signing of the war-time prohibition law and the date of its effectiveness. Frierson said when the law was passed congress did not know how soon war would end.

"But does this now show that congress itself did not think it was needed as a war measure?" asked Justice Reynolds.

"There is a wide difference of opinion as to the necessity of this law," admitted Frierson. "This is but a temporary law The constitutional prohibition amendment is soon to go into effect and this wide question of the validity of such laws may be raised then."

Frierson denied that there existed any law guaranteeing one year before national prohibition to the distillers to sell their supplies

Levy Mayer counsel for Kentucky Company said there was no contention that Congress in the exercise of its war powers cannot prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquor. "But these distilled spirits were distilled before the war and were placed under control and custody of this property," he said. "When you take away power of sale you confiscate property. This American whiskey could not be exported during the war. There is no foreign market for it. The government said you shall not sell this whiskey.' It might as well have said we will take it and burn or destroy it"

Commenting on the contention that peace must be proclaimed only on ratification of the peace terms, Mayer said there were instances where twenty years or more had elapsed before peace treaties were signed

"Can the owner of this property, made under laws of government, paying taxes on it to the government, be deprived of his property without due compensation?" asked Mayer.

The court recessed for half an hour and Mayer will continue this afternoon Elihu Root was to argue late this afternoon.

Flatbush, Nov. 20.—The experience social held at the parsonage last Thursday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Society, was a success in every way. The experience of the ladies in earning their dollar for the church were often amusing and were in rhyme A very pleasing program was rendered, consisting of instrumental duets, trios, vocal solos, choruses, singing and recitations. Mrs Arthur Dederick of Katsbaan sang several solos and was heartily applauded Altogether it was one of the most successful affairs held in some time. The financial net results were over $100.

RATIFICATION MEANS LIQUOR

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The war-time prohibition ban will not be lifted until the peace treaty is ratified. This was learned upon the highest authority today. White House officials treated lightly numerous rumors which came that the president was about to lift the ban because the treaty had failed of passage.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 20.—Pressure was exerted against practically the entire list at the opening of the stock market today, initial losses ranging from 1 to over 5 points. Steel Common sold off ¼ to 102¼; Baldwin Locomotive 1¾ to 100½; Republic Steel 2 points to 100 and Bethlehem Steel B 1 point to 91½. Crucible, however, advanced 5 points to 185. General Motors dropped ⅞ to 304; Studebaker to 110½; and Pierce Arrow 2 points to 62¾. U. S. Rubber yielded 2¾ to 114. Mexican Petroleum was ½ lower at 192½; Royal Dutch 2 points lower at 99¼, while fractional losses were noted in Pan-American Petroleum and Sinclair Oil. Fractional declines were noted in Southern Pacific and Union Pacific.

The market quickly steadied after the start, buying orders on a large scale coming into the market on which initial losses were recovered. Steel Common rallied to 103¼; Mexican Petroleum to 196 and General Motors to 310¾.

Buying orders increased in volume during the forenoon and good gains were made from the opening low levels in nearly all the active issues. Steel Common rose over 1 point to 103¾; Baldwin 4 points to 104½; U. S Rubber 4 points to 118; International Paper 3 points to 69; and advances of from 1 to 2 points were made in the oil issues General Motors advanced 13 points to 316, Southern Pacific was the most active of the rails, advancing ½ to 97¾.

Substantial gains were made in practically the entire list during the afternoon Vigorous upturns from the morning low levels were made in many issues during the afternoon. The buying was chiefly because of the reduction in the call money Steel Common rose to 10[illegible] Bethlehem B nearly 4 points to 95, Baldwin Locomotive 5½ to 106; American Sumatra over 6 points to 92⅞, United Retail Stores 1½ to 89; Southern Pacific 3 points to 99¼; U. WARNS OF DUST PERIL IN MILLS

Department of Agriculture Tells of Tragedies Which Carry Own Lesson.

LOSS OF LIFE AND PROPERTY

Men in Flour Mills, Cereal Mills and Elevators Under Government Urge Are Using More Care—Preventive Devices Installed.

Washington.—Here is a remarkable contrast:

Between March, 1916, and October, 1917—twenty months—dust explosions destroyed four of the largest grain and cereal plants in the United States and Canada, killing 24 people, injuring 36 and destroying $6,000,000 worth of foodstuffs and buildings.

From October, 1917, to August, 1919—twenty-one months—there has been only one disastrous dust explosion in a flour mill, cereal mill or grain elevator in this country. This explosion occurred in May, 1919, in an elevator in the Northwest. Three men were killed, four injured and property damaged to the extent of $150,000.

Did not the elevators and mills handle more grain and flour in the latter period than in the earlier one? And did they not have trouble with the changing of help and have to use inexperienced men? More explosions, in the natural course of events, were to be expected in the later period. The secret of it is that all the men in the flour mills, cereal mills and elevators have been careful and preventive devices have been installed

Carry Their Lesson.

The following accounts of tragedies and near-tragedies supplied by the bureau of chemistry of the United States department of agriculture convey their own lesson.

A feed-grinding plant in Canada met with a $2,000,000 loss from an explosion and fire caused by foreign material entering the grinding machine. The sparks created by this foreign material, passing through the grinding plates ignited the dust in and around the machine. A small explosion followed. Dust-laden air propagated the flame to a large bin, where the dust had been stirred into suspension. This produced a second and violent explosion and the fire that resulted completely destroyed the plant, killing 17 men and injuring 16.

Friction between any two dissimilar bodies will produce static electricity. A spark of this type started a fire in an elevator head of a southern export house. Since the elevator heads and legs were completely boxed in and the machinery was operating properly there was absolutely no possibility of any cause for this fire except static electricity. The discharge ignited the dust in the elevator head, the flames burst out and caused a fire on the top floor. Fortunately the plant was equipped with an automatic sprinkler system and the fire was extinguished before much damage was done. By grounding every elevator head in the building this danger was eliminated, and since that time no fire or explosion has occurred in the plant.

Care Prevents Disaster.

It was the custom at a certain cereal grinding mill in the middle West to keep the plant as free as possible from all dust. This practice, no doubt, saved the plant from a disastrous explosion and fire. Some bits of foreign material got past the magnetic separator, and upon entering the grinding machine caused sparks to fly. The sparks ignited the dust in suspension, blew open the doors of the grinding machines, and flames shot out to a distance of several feet; but because of the lack of dust to propagate the flame the fire went out. Had there been accumulations of dust near by it no doubt would have been thrown into suspension and another and very violent explosion would have resulted.

At an elevator in the East three men were transferring grain from a storage bin to a shipping bin when one of them smelled the odor of burning rubber.

"I guess we had better see what is the trouble," said one.

"Let's finish running this bin first," said another. "We can finish in about ten minutes."

"All right," said the first, and they continued working.

A few minutes later—an explosion, and then a fire. Flames spread rapidly and the heat was so intense that the firemen could not get the fire under control. The plant was completely destroyed, with a loss of $1,500,000. Enough grain was destroyed to furnish Chicago with bread for a month.

Seven Men Killed.

A choke-up occurred recently in an export elevator in the East. One of the men hurried to investigate and found it to be in leg No. 1. He signaled in for leg No. 1 to be shut down, but because of some mistake leg No. 2 was shut down instead. The belt in No. 1 continued to slip until the heat produced was so great that the belt began to burn, thus igniting the dust in the leg and producing a sharp local explosion, which blew the leg apart. This explosion stirred up the dust about the plant, ignited it, and produced a very violent explosion. The fire which resulted completely destroyed the plant. Seven men were killed, 22 injured and the property damage amounted to $1,500,000.

The miller in a modern mill in the South believed in having his plant clean, in having efficient fire-fighting apparatus, and in using a flashlight if he must inspect a bin by artificial light. Occasionally, however, he would go through the plant smoking his pipe.

No Place to Smoke.

One afternoon he wished to determine the amount of flour in a bin, so he took a flashlight, lifted the trapdoor of the bin, and was about to flash the light when he found a mass of flames in front of him. He was smoking his pipe at the time. His hands and face were badly burned, and the trapdoor sill was scorched. Fortunately, because of the lack of dust in the plant, the blaze vanished almost as quickly as it came. The miller in a modern mill in the South still believes in smoking—but not in a flour mill or grain elevator.

While inspecting an elevator in the East an insurance man found an extension light with a flimsy wire guard lying on the floor and remarked, "This light should not be lying on the floor."

"All right," said one of the men, and picked up the light, intending to throw it over a beam overhead. The bulb struck the beam and broke. This disturbed and ignited the dust which lay thick on the beam. Flames burst out for ten feet or more in every direction. Fortunately there was little dust in the air, so a disastrous explosion did not follow.

What a Grain Dust Explosion Followed by a Fire Did to a Grain Elevator.

Red Ink, Not Blood, Scared Injured Man.

San Francisco, Cal.—"My arm is bleeding, doctor—see the blood all over it," cried Albert Fisimo, as he burst into the Harbor Emergency hospital, his right arm stained with gory streaks.

Dr. A. Friedman gave one look at the arm. He put his nose to one of the streaks of red, and then he burst out in a roar of laughter.

"That's not blood, my good man; that's nothing but red ink," said the doctor, as Fisimo explained that he had scratched his arm while loading boxes on a wagon and had gone to the first aid box for what he thought to be iodine, but, instead, he had taken red ink.

CLAIM HE'S YOUNGEST MAJOR

David W. Shand of Illinois Commissioned in That Rank at Twenty-two and Three Months.

Bloomington, Ill.—Claims that Maj. Alexander Stark, Jr., of New York city, a member of the Sixty-first regiment of infantry, was the youngest major of the late war are disputed by Maj. David W. Shand of Illinois.

The latter was commissioned a major September 30, 1918, when twenty-two years and three months of age, nine months younger than the New York officer.

Major Shand is the son of Col. Richard Shand, assistant adjutant general of Illinois. He went to France with the Thirty-third division and saw much active service. He also assisted in the organization of the Twelfth division at Camp Devens, Mass. Following the war Major Shand has resumed his school duties at Ann Arbor university.

The problem of Americanizing thousands of foreign-born army recruits was deftly handled by the educational centres in the army camps throughout the country. Several days ago the first recruiting education centre, situated at Camp Upton, L. I., assigned several hundred men who when they joined the forces were unable to speak English to stations. The men were capable and well-trained in the elementals of an American education. Here is shown Major John H. Burns, commander of the first recruiting educational centre at Camp Upton.

AN ADVENTURE IN BUSINESS

Mr. H. was a telegraph operator and received the meager pay that goes with that occupation. He worked at it for fifteen years, until his health broke down. The doctor told him he should get an outdoor occupation. He started in life insurance work with fear and trembling, thinking that he had no qualities of salesmanship to fit him. He worked hard. He believed in insurance. He believed in the company he represented. He made a living the first year but hardly more. The second year his income increased. He is now making over $7,500 a year in commissions and is on the high road to Easy Street, which is in the next block, around the corner in Hard Work Boulevard.

We have an opening for the right kind of a man, to point the same way as the plate street. We have a wonderful system of Sales Helps. We have a welfare Correspondence School of Insurance Salesmanship. We have the best old-line life insurance company in the country, one which has successfully operated for sixty-three years and is well-known throughout the land. We will not take on any man who cannot pass our severe test as to habits, standing and business record, however humble, and who isn't willing to work hard and place himself under our care and system on the road to success.

TELLS STORY OF BESSEMER STEEL

Geographic Society Gives Interesting Chronicle of Industry's Origin.

CHANGED MAKING OF STEEL

Two Men Working in Different Countries, Without Knowledge of Each Other, Arrive at Same Conclusion About Same Time.

Washington.—In view of the nation-wide attention directed toward the strike of steel workers, the National Geographic society has issued a bulletin based on a communication from William Joseph Showalter, concerning the making of steel, which he terms "industry's greatest asset."

"The story of Bessemer steel is one of the fascinating chronicles of the industrial world," the bulletin says. "It seems to have been one of those cases where two men working in different countries, each without knowledge of what the other was doing, reached the same conclusion about the same time. Both were granted American patents; but upon application for renewal, the patent held Kelly to be the inventor. The world, however, gives the credit to Bessemer, and the process is known as the Bessemer process.

Made Ye Olden Cook Pots.

"Kelly was a maker of old-fashioned cooking pots and kettles. It is related that one day he was sitting in front of his furnace and observed a point of incandescence where there was no charcoal—only the metal and the air. This led him to contend that air alone would burn out the impurities from molten iron.

"When he developed his tilting converter his engineer blew such a tremendous blast through the first charge that iron and all went up as sparks, to his discomfiture and the crowd's amusement. He finally succeeded in getting the amount of air regulated, and poured out of his converter the first Bessemer steel. People said Kelly would soon be burning ice. Since his old converter was first used, billions of dollars' worth of steel has flowed out of the world's converters.

"Both Kelly and Bessemer were baffled by the problem of regulating the supply of air so that it would not burn out all the carbon, a little of which is essential to steel. Furthermore, their products frequently proved to be brittle, owing to the fact that the molten metal absorbed oxygen from the air blast. The first difficulty was solved eventually by the expedient of burning out practically all the carbon, then adding exactly the amount required for the specific quality of steel desired.

"The second difficulty was overcome through the addition of manganese to take care of the hurtful oxygen. The latter suggestion was the contribution of Robert F. Mushet, a Scotch steel maker. Goranson, a Swedish ironmaster, had previously achieved the same results by using a pig iron initially rich in manganese. Thereafter underdone and overdone steel disappeared.

More Fire Than in Dante's Inferno.

"To go into a great building where there is a battery of Bessemer converters is to see more heat than Dante ever pictured. A converter is a huge egg swung 'amidships' on trunnions. The great egg of steel lined with fire brick has the top off. Twenty tons of molten pig are poured into it, and then through some 200 little holes in the bottom pumping engines pump in a stream of cold air. As the oxygen-laden air sweeps up through the molten iron, it touches the molten carbon and silicon, which constitute the impurities, and carries them away.

"Millions of red and white sparks fill the air, as if some demon within the fiery fluid were giving a pyrotechnic performance. A thousand engines, with safety valves hissing under tremendous pressure, have the voice of a zephyr in comparison. First the flame that pours forth is violet, then shades into orange, becomes a dazzling white, burning finally to a faint blue, which is a sign that all the impurities are gone.

"Then the blast ceases, the carbon that is necessary to replace the needed portions burnt out is added, the great brick and steel egg swings back to position, the carbon is mixed with the fervent fluid, and then the egg tips over on its side, and out of the top flows the liquid steel into a great ladle. The whole operation takes about 20 minutes—a ton of steel in a minute. Bessemer steel is used for structural material, railroad rails, wire and pipe.

"In 1909 there was twice as much steel produced in the United States by the Bessemer as by the open-hearth process. But with the rapid exhaustion of ores having the proper amounts of phosphorus for converter practice, the open-hearth furnace, which can use with equal success ores which contain either a large or a small amount of phosphorus, largely replaced the Bessemer converter."

Man's Actions.

The actions of men are effects; their sentiments, their passions, and their affections are the causes of those effects; and we may in many cases form a judgment of the cause from the effect. The behavior of parents toward their children gives sufficient evidence even to those who never had children that the parental affection is common to all mankind. It is easy to see from the general conduct of men what are the natural objects of their esteem, their love, their approbation, their resentment and of all their original dispositions.—Thomas Reid.

CHILDREN OF THE RICH SUNDAY SCHOOL SLACKERS

Poor East Side Churches Have Much Better Attendance Than Old Trinity, the World's Wealthiest Parish

The little son of poverty is a regular attendant at Grace Chapel, East Side, N. Y. The son of wealth is not so regularly seen at Sunday School.

The children of the poor are better Sunday School scholars than the sons and daughters of the rich, surveys of over 100 New York City parishes of the Episcopal Church indicate.

The surveys which are a part of the Church's Nation-Wide Campaign to be waged Sunday, December 7, for a minimum of $62,000,000 from Episcopalians only, developed that children are neglecting Sunday School; and that of those who do go, the children of the poor show to much better advantage than do those of the rich.

Old Trinity at Broadway and Wall Street, rated the wealthiest individual parish in the world, with realty investments of over $20,000,000, reported a Sunday School enrollment of only 160 children to over 1,000 communicants. Grace Church with a budget in 1918 of $390,041.83 reported an equally small percentage.

A few blocks away where children throng the tenament houses of the lower East Side, little Grace Church Chapel has a Sunday School of 450. St. Bartholomew's Church at Fiftieth Street and Park Avenue, a mecca of fashionables has only a five per cent. Sunday School enrollment. Well-to-do St. Ignatius' parish at East End Avenue and 87th Street, has only thirty-seven children in its Sunday School compared with 600 communicants.

Rehabilitation of its Sunday Schools is one of the purposes of the Episcopal Church's Nation-Wide Campaign.

DISTRIBUTION IS COAL PROBLEM

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Resources of the federal railway administration will be concentrated on distribution of the available coal supply, so as to avoid shortage that would compel the curtailment of train service, it was announced here yesterday by Railway Director Walker D. Hines, at the conclusion of his conference with regional directors of the railroad administration.

"For the time being," said a prepared statement issued by Hines, "the problem is really one of distributing available coal so as to avoid shortage. To do this involves unusually long hauls on a considerable tonnage of coal and this is presenting new transportation requirements. The matter of curtailing industries of the country will depend upon future developments.

"It is essential that coal be used as sparingly as possible and therefore distribution will be continued in accordance with the authority resting with the railway administration."

Hines's statement was issued after a conference with the seven regional directors that lasted throughout the forenoon. Each regional director outlined the fuel needs of his territory and as a result of the discussion, it was announced that the opinion of the railway administration that drastic measures are not necessary is unchanged.

Shortly after the conference Director General Hines left for Washington.

WOULD NOT TAX TIMBER UNTIL CUT

Forestry Conference Between State Interests and Col. Graves Favors Timber Census and Urges Better Fire Protection.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Adopting resolutions declaring for a comprehensive timber survey and land classification, for extensive reforestation of state and private areas, adequate fire protection, and a system of taxation which will encourage the owner of trees to let them grow instead of forcing him to cut his growing timber, the forestry conference arranged by the New York State Forestry Association between Col. Henry S Graves, chief of the U. S. Forest Service, and New York interests involved in the timber problem did more to advance the cause of forestry than any gathering ever held in New York state. For the first time all elements in the state took action for definite forward progress on agreed necessities, and eliminated from discussion all points on which there was not thorough agreement. The resolutions follow:

This conference of the interested in the forests and timberlands of the state of New York and of the nation, grateful to Divine Providence for the gracious calm which has succeeded the turmoil and destruction of the conflict ended on the day of which this is the first anniversary, registers the following statement of principles as the result of its deliberations, and commends them to the consideration of the people of the state and the nation, viz:

1.—Timber Census. Whereas, the great war just ended has shown clearly how inadequate is our knowledge of existing timber resources, and

Whereas, pending the securing of such definite knowledge any attempt to formulate a permanent timberland policy must necessarily be premature and without adequate basis.

Therefore, resolved, that this conference favors a comprehensive timber survey and land classification under the authority of the federal congress and of the legislatures of the different states.

2.—Fire Protection. Whereas, the fundamental step in any timberland policy which may be adopted as a result of the aforesaid timber survey and land classification, is increased protection to our forests from fire insects, fungi and other ravages, but more particularly from fire.

Therefore, resolved, that this conference strongly endorses the policy of complete and adequate fire protection embodied in the laws of the state of New York, and urges its extension to all the forest lands of the state, at the same time commending its adoption to the federal government and the governments of the sister states of our union, and we further especially urge that adequate appropriations be made for the enforcements of the Weeks law, both as to forest protection and forest land acquisition.

3.—Forest Taxation. Whereas, taxes on standing, growing timber should be collected when the timber is harvested, and not annually, as now under the general property tax, and

Whereas, this deferring of taxes would go far towards enabling the land owners to carry their forests until maturity without cutting,

Therefore, resolved, that this conference approves the co-operative efforts of the New York State Forestry Association in this respect and urges its representatives to continue their labors of the past two years until the desired legislation is secured.

4.—Reforestation. Whereas, the reforesting of non-agricultural lands, now unproductive, is most desirable, and

Whereas, the owners of such lands would be willing to dedicate them to continuous forest production, provided such a crop promised a profit at maturity, which is seldom the case today, and

Whereas, the state benefits through the favorable influence of such forests upon climate, and run off, through the production of timber and through other advantages ancillary thereto, which would amply repay the public for any benefits extended to the owners,

Therefore, resolved that this conference urges the legislature of the state to assist by such action as will encourage private owners towards the reclamation of their waste lands, and

Furthermore, resolved, that this conference recommends greatly increased reforestation by the state of its idle acres, both those now owned and hereafter acquired by it, and Finally, this conference desires to express and does hereby express its appreciation of the work of Henry S. Graves, chief forester of the United States Forest Service, in the promotion of forest conservation and tenders him its sincere thanks for his attendance at and his aid in the conference. And to Prof. Edwin R. A. Seligman the conference tenders its thanks for his able address before the evening session.
